📖 Part 1：双语精读对照

以下为本期男主播朗读的全部英文原文（共 6 节：Section 1–6），逐节配中文翻译。

1 Section 1

> Hello, young explorers, and welcome back to Michael's Morning Listening! Today, both of our stars are champions of hide-and-seek. One hid in a museum for almost a hundred years. The other hid in front of everybody's eyes for forty years. Nobody had to find them in the wild. Somebody just had to look at them.

欢迎回来，小小探险家们，这里是 Michael 的早听晚读！今天的两位主角都是捉迷藏冠军：一位在博物馆里躲了近一百年，另一位在所有人的眼皮底下躲了四十年。没人需要去野外寻找它们——只要有人仔仔细细地看它们一眼就好。

2 Section 2

> Our first story begins in Egypt, beside the famous Sphinx（狮身人面像）. The Great Sphinx of Giza, lion-bodied and king-faced, was carved from a ridge（隆起的脊） of limestone（石灰岩）, rock that was once a warm sea floor. Inside those rocks, scientists have recognised a crocodile never named before.

我们的第一个故事发生在埃及，就在著名的狮身人面像身旁。吉萨的大狮身人面像，狮子的身体、国王的面孔，是从一整片石灰岩山脊上雕刻出来的——而这片岩石，曾经是一片温暖浅海的海底。就在这片岩石里，科学家认出了一只从未被命名过的鳄鱼。

> The animal, Herugavialis cairensis（赫鲁长吻鳄（新属新种））, lived forty-five million years ago. It was a gavial（长吻鳄）, a crocodile with a long, thin snout（口鼻部） for snapping up fish, and a curved ridge circled each of its eyes.

这只动物名叫 Herugavialis cairensis（赫鲁长吻鳄），生活在四千五百万年前。它是一种长吻鳄，有着又长又细的嘴，专门用来抓鱼；它的每只眼睛周围，都环绕着一圈弯弯的隆起。

> Our hero is a skull. Collectors dug it out of the Mokattam（莫卡塔姆（开罗东部的岩石地层）） rocks in the nineteen twenties. It travelled to a German museum and slept for almost a hundred years. Its label named a known crocodile, and nobody questioned it for decades.

我们的主角是一颗头骨。二十世纪二十年代，收藏家们从莫卡塔姆岩石群里把它挖了出来。它被送到德国的一家博物馆，一睡就是近一百年。它的标签上写着一种已知鳄鱼的名字，几十年来，从没有人怀疑过。

> Then an international team took a closer look. They slid the skull into a CT scanner（扫描仪）, a machine that lets doctors and scientists peek inside objects without breaking them open. After comparing three hundred details, the team concluded: this was not the crocodile on the label. It was a new genus（属（生物分类等级））, a branch that science had missed.

后来，一个国际团队决定认真看一看。他们把头骨滑进一台 CT 扫描仪——这种机器能让医生和科学家在不打破物体的情况下看清它的内部。在比较了三百处细节之后，团队得出结论：这根本不是标签上的那种鳄鱼。这是一个全新的“属”，是鳄鱼家族树上一条被科学漏掉的枝杈。

They named it after Heru, a god linked with the Sphinx. And like the Sphinx, it is missing the tip of its snout.

团队用 Heru 为它命名，那是一位与狮身人面像有关的古埃及神。而且和狮身人面像一样，它也缺了鼻尖。

3 Section 3

Our second treasure was hiding in plain sight in a university collection in Germany. It looks like a woodlouse that swallowed a growth potion: hard scaly shell, many legs. It is a giant isopod（等足虫）, a deep-sea cousin of the tiny pill bugs, only this one is thirty-two centimetres long. Scientists call monsters this size colossogiants.

我们的第二件宝贝同样藏在眼皮底下，这次是在德国一所大学的收藏室里。它看起来像一只吞了长大药水的潮虫：硬硬的鳞片壳、许多条腿。它是一只巨型等足虫，是小小潮虫的深海亲戚，只不过这一只长达三十二厘米。科学家把这个尺寸的怪兽叫作 colossogiants（巨无霸级）。

It came from the Caribbean Sea（加勒比海）, near Puerto Rico（波多黎各）, caught in a seabed（海床） trap five hundred metres down. Giant isopods patrol the dark ocean floor, down to two thousand five hundred metres, eating whatever sinks: fish, squid, even whales. These armoured cleaners help digest the ocean's leftovers.

它来自波多黎各附近的加勒比海，在五百米深的海床陷阱里被捕获。巨型等足虫在黑暗的深海海底巡逻，最深可达两千五百米，吃一切沉下来的东西：鱼、乌贼，甚至鲸鱼。这些身披铠甲的清洁工，帮忙消化海洋的剩饭剩菜。

For forty years, its label used a cousin's name. It even starred in a sea-giants exhibition. Everyone saw it; nobody saw it.

四十年来，它的标签一直用着一个亲戚的名字。它甚至还在一场“海洋巨兽”展览里当过明星。所有人都看见了它，却没有人真正看见它。

Then a researcher and the curator（收藏负责人） wheeled it into an X-ray scanner. The scans, with tiny details of mouth and shell, proved it was a new species. Its closest relative lives near Mexico's Yucatán（尤卡坦（墨西哥地名）） coast. Its name joins its two homes: its birth island, and the town of its recognition.

后来，一位研究者和收藏负责人把它推进了一台 X 光扫描仪。扫描结果，再加上它嘴巴和外壳上的细微之处，证明了这是一个新物种。它最近的亲戚生活在墨西哥尤卡坦海岸附近。它的名字把它的两个“家”连在一起：它出生的岛，和它最终被认出的小镇。

You need no ship or submarine to find a new species. Sometimes it sits on a shelf, hiding in plain sight, waiting for someone to look twice.

寻找新物种，不需要轮船，也不需要潜水艇。有时它就坐在一只架子上，藏在眼皮底下，等着有人愿意多看它一眼。

4 Section 4

Here's today's idiom: "hiding in plain sight." If something is hiding in plain sight, everyone can see it, but nobody notices it — like a new species sitting on a museum shelf for forty years! Here's an example: "The keys were hiding in plain sight, on the kitchen table." What treasure might be hiding in plain sight in your home?

今天的俚语是：“hiding in plain sight”（藏在眼皮底下）。如果一样东西 hiding in plain sight，那就是所有人都能看见它，却偏偏没人注意到它——就像一个新物种在博物馆的架子上坐了四十年！举个例子：“钥匙就藏在眼皮底下，在厨房的桌子上。”你家里会有什么宝贝，正藏在眼皮底下呢？

5 Section 5

> Let's think about today's stories. A crocodile hid in a museum for a hundred years, and a sea giant for forty. Now, two questions for you. First: if you could peek inside one museum drawer, what would you hope to find? Second: what thing in your home deserves a second look? Talk about it with your family!

我们来想想今天的故事。一只鳄鱼在博物馆里躲了一百年，一只深海巨兽躲了四十年。现在轮到你回答两个问题。第一：如果你能偷看一眼博物馆的某个抽屉，你希望在里面找到什么？第二：你家里有哪件东西，值得你再仔细看上一眼？和家人聊聊吧！

6 Section 6

> That's all for today, young explorers. Keep your eyes open, look twice — a treasure may be hiding in plain sight! See you tomorrow morning!

今天的节目就到这里啦，小小探险家们。睁大眼睛，多看两眼——说不定一件宝贝就藏在你的眼皮底下！明天早上见！

🔬 Part 4：长难句深度拆解与练习

经典原句：

They slid the skull into a CT scanner, a machine that lets doctors and scientists peek inside objects without breaking them open.

保姆级结构拆解：

- 主干很短：They slid the skull into a CT scanner.（他们把头骨滑进了一台 CT 扫描仪）主语 They、谓语 slid、宾语 the skull、into a CT scanner 交代方向。先抓住主干，后面再长也不怕。
- 紧跟其后的 a machine 是同位语：它和前面的 a CT scanner 指的是同一个东西，换个说法再解释一遍——“一台机器”。同位语就像给名词配的一张小名片，读到它，陌生名词立刻变亲切。
- that lets doctors and scientists peek inside objects 是定语从句，修饰 a machine：that 在从句里作主语（指机器），所以不能省略——这一点和作宾语时可以省略正好相反，要分清。
- 从句的核心结构是 let + 宾语 + 动词原形：lets doctors and scientists peek——let（让）后面跟人，再跟动词原形 peek，中间没有 to。这是 let 的固定用法：let somebody do something。
- 句尾的 without breaking them open 是 without + 动词-ing 结构，表示“在不……的情况下”：不用把物体打破，就能看清内部。它的动作发出者，就是前面的 doctors and scientists。
- 整句逻辑链：放进扫描仪（动作）→ 它是一台机器（同位语解释）→ 能让人看进内部（定语从句说功能）→ 而且不用打破（without 短语说方式）。一句话，把一台神奇机器讲得明明白白。

句型练习（练的就是上面拆解的三个知识点）

A. 同位语：用括号里的短语补全

1. The Sphinx, _____, watches over the pyramids. (a statue with a lion's body)
2. Herugavialis, _____, lived in a warm shallow sea. (a crocodile with a long thin snout)

B. let + 宾语 + 动词原形：用括号里的短语补全

1. The scanner let the team _____. (peek inside the skull)
2. A closer look let scientists _____. (see the hidden truth)

C. without + 动词-ing：用括号里的短语补全

1. They studied the bone _____. (without breaking it open)
2. The isopod waited for forty years _____. (without telling its secret)

D. 翻译练习：把这两句译成中文（不提供译文，自己试着写）

1. The machine lets us look inside the old skull without opening the box.
2. The Sphinx, a statue from the same stone, kept the crocodile's secret for millions of years.
